My Honest Friend.

He came to me [illegible]
And shook me by the hand,
And spoke to me [illegible]
In tones so [illegible] bland.
That though I did not know him yet
His ways and [illegible]
Proclaimed at once the gentleman
We now-a-days [illegible] find.

He spoke [illegible]
About his [illegible]
He spoke [illegible]
Of all his [illegible]
He told me [illegible] that happened from
The moment of his birth.
I grasped his [illegible]
[illegible] of worth.

He drew [illegible]
A little [illegible]
And whispered [illegible] confidingly,
With air [illegible]
And said it was with deep chagrin,
That he [illegible]
But did I have about me then
So small a thing as a "V"?

I slipped the same right eagerly
Into his honest hand!
He bowed to me so tearfully—
My friend he'll ever stand.
We parted—but death soon, alas!
O'ertook this creature's [illegible].
That is—I think he must be dead,
For I've not seen him since!

A CUTE IRISHMAN IN A TIGHT PLACE.—A son of the "Emerald Island," but not himself green, was taken up (for he was at the time down) near a Rebel encampment, not far from Manassas Junction. In a word, Pat was taking a quiet nap in the shade, and was aroused from his slumber by a scouting party. He wore no special uniform of either party, but looked more like a spy than an alligator, and on this was arrested,

"Who are you, what is your name, and where are you from?" were the first questions put to him by the armed party.

Pat rubbed his eyes, scratched his head, and answered: "By my faith, gintlemen, them is ugly questions to answer anyhow, and before I answer any o'them, I'd be afther axin you by yer lave, the same thing."

"Well," said the leader, "we are of Scott's army, and belong to Washington."

"All right," said Pat, "I know'd ye was jintlemen, for I am that same. Long live to Gineral Scott."

"Aha," replied the scout, "now you rascal, you are our prisoner," and seized him by the shoulder.

"How is that?" inquired Pat, "are we not friends?"

"No," was the answer, "we belong to Gen. Beauregard's army."

"Then ye told me a lie, my boys, and thinking it might be so, I told you another; now tell me the truth, too."

"Well, we belong to the State of South Carolina."

"So do I," promptly responded Pat, "and to all the other States of the country, too; and there I am thinking I bate the whole of ye. Do ye think I would come all the way from Ireland to belong to one State, when I had the right to belong to the whole of 'em?"

This logic was rather a stumper, but they took him up as before said, and carried him in for further examination.

It is pretty evident from this specimen, that Pat needed no prompting in a closer examination, and bearing no evidence that he was a spy, they let him off, and the more readily, as while he assured them that he was no "politicianer," he persisted in thinking that any man was a big fool to belong to only one State when he has a right (as he had) of belonging to thirty-four States, besides the Territories.

"JESSIE" IN THE FIELD.—We do not understand the difficulties between Col. Blair and Gen. Fremont. The matter was referred to the chiefs at Washington. A St. Louis correspondent of the Sacramento Bee says:

"Mrs. Fremont was despatched from St. Louis to Washington as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, to plead the cause of her husband. She called on the President, stated her case in such true womanly directness as her indignant feelings prompted. The President, upon hearing her statement, remarked that the case as she stated it was entirely different from his understanding of the matter; that he would consider the subject, and that justice should be done her husband. On retiring from the White House, who should she stumble upon but F. P. Blair, sen., and drawing him aside she opened a volley of accusations as to his complicity in misstating her husband's position. She had only surmises, but the admissions of Mr. Blair proved her surmises to be true.

Just then (so rumor has it) the President was passing down the hall, when Jessie drew him into the ante-room, and facing Blair, said, "Now I want you to say to the President what you have said to me. If you refuse, I shall repeat it to your face, and challenge you to deny it." The old gentleman found himself cornered, and complied with as much grace as possible. What the issue was rumor does not say; but it was important, it is confidently asserted. Jessie gained the day, and it is said the old Benton stock played against all three of the Blairs, and euchred the crowd."

REBELS ABOUT WASHINGTON.—The prognostications and anticipations of the rebel journals relative to the successes of their Generals in their various positions in Western Virginia, have been somewhat upset by the actual state of affairs there. According to their newspaper accounts they intended that the Kenawha valley and the Pan Handle should be once more in possession of the rebel forces, and General Rosecranz and his troops entirely annihilated. Instead of that at the last accounts he was in full chase after Lee, Floyd, Wise and Chapman.

Every white male from 16 to 60 years old has to drill in Charleston, S. C. All stores and business is suspended at 4 o'clock to give time for this performance.

A horse was severely stung by a nest of hornets in this neighborhood lately. He trod upon the nest and was not able to tell them it was an accident.

One of the rebel prisoners at camp Chase, Ohio, had a "letter of marque," from Gov. Wise, in which he was authorized to pick off federal scouts at $1, a head.

The New Orleans Delta says the crop of sugar is great this year, but the planters don't know what to do with it.

A few weeks ago the secession papers in Oregon said that the volunteers were all democrats. Now these same papers don't want the Californians to come here, because, they say they are all republicans.

Gov Whiteaker's Call for Volunteers

The Advertiser of Tuesday and Wednesday invites the attention of Union men to the call of Governor Whiteaker for volunteers. We feel that, perhaps, we ought to explain our position on this subject. We are aware that Col. Wright has made a requisition upon the Governor for a company of volunteer cavalry. It will not appear strange to our readers when we say that we have little confidence in Gov. Whiteaker as a Union man. Some weeks ago he most unnecessarily made a publication on national affairs, in which he placed himself in a position, that even the Advertiser dared not sustain, and which met with the undisguised condemnation of our Union loving citizens generally. It was a secession document—going as far in that direction as the writer dared go at the time. But not to extend these remarks beyond necessity, we say that we do not believe that Gov. Whiteaker is in favor of sustaining the Union by the means now being used by the government for that purpose.

Gov Whiteaker has taken such measures as seemed to him best to obey the requisition of Col. Wright, he has appointed agents to receive and enrol volunteers, most of whom, if not all, are regarded as holding strong secession proclivities. These persons are likely to enrol such persons as suit them—and probably such as hold views in harmony with their own. We do not know that this will be the case, but judging from the past, we believe that in a majority of cases, it will be so done—at least, so far as to control the organization of the company. We do not know a more painful position in which a true Union man can be placed, than to be compelled to be the associate of others who hold the opinions and doctrines of the secession or disunion party. By no means of ours—by no advice of ours—shall they be placed in this condition. We think treason now—and they think treason now—is as foul a crime as it was in the days of Arnold.

If Union men were to enrol themselves under the present invitation of the Governor—surrounded as he is by his present adjuncts in the matter—the state of things which we have presented would be likely to be realized.

We, therefore, do not advise Union men to enlist under Gov. Whiteaker's present call. His own political friends can do so. We have not the power, even if we had the disposition, to prevent them from doing this, but we repeat, we do not advise the Union loving men of Oregon to enrol themselves as members of a volunteer company of cavalry under the agents employed by Gov. Whiteaker.

"The Press and the Mails."

The Advertiser is very much exercised on this subject. Months ago,—before its friends raised the standard of rebellion in the South and when the government was moving on regularly,—Postmasters in the South, under direction of citizens there, took from the mail certain papers of the North, the politics of which did not suit them and also refused to deliver such papers to subscribers. This course on their part was sustained by the Post Master General, and we never heard a complaint from the Advertiser, or other papers of the same stripe, that it was not entirely right. In fact, they approved this action of Southern postmasters and the acquiescence in it of the post master general.

The post-master general has now refused the use of the mails to certain editors who abuse the privilege by using their papers for the dissemination of treason and the subversion of government. The secession editors are wroth at this exercise of power. It is natural that they should be. They do not wish to be interrupted in the war they are making for Jeff Davis and in behalf of his government. We do not know the names of all the papers which are not permitted to be transported in the mails; but we are quite sure that not a [illegible] can be found among them, which has recommended prayer to God that he would paralyze our arms, and give the nation into the hands of Jeff Davis. The Advertiser, which has done this, if the paper was published in any of the Eastern States would [illegible] to the grand [illegible]. We believe in the fact that government has power to punish this species of treason and will do it.

WHAT CAUSED THE PANIC?—This question is gradually receiving a satisfactory answer. Dr Stewart, the Surgeon of the first Minnesota Regiment, thus writes: "While working among my wounded—there being at that time over fifty of our Minnesotians stretched bleeding and ghastly upon the grass under the trees of the beautiful grove wherein the hospital was located—a mounted officer of Gen. McDowell's staff rode up to the door of the church, and [illegible] to us: 'We are whipped to death—the retreat has been ordered—retreat immediately.' [illegible] came from an aid of Gen. McDowell. What could have been expected but a panic?" Other officers are reported to have used language of the same sort. We believe the panic was due in a great measure to the conduct of those whose duty it was to calm the troops and prevent alarm which should interfere with their orderly retreat. Instead of doing so some of the officers seem to have been among the loudest as well as among the first to lose all presence of mind and to increase instead of allaying the apprehensions of men.—N. Y. Times.

REBEL MURDERERS—ROBBING THE DEAD.—A reliable citizen of Missouri tells the Hannibal (Mo.) Messenger that he was in St. Joseph at the time of the Platte Bridge disaster, and was on the ground the next day; that there were sixty or seventy men on the opposite bank of the Platte river, who witnessed the train go down, and when the wail rose from the wounded they broke and ran, but afterwards returned and robbed the dead of their revolvers, watches and other valuables.

PREPARING FOR WARM TIMES.—The Cleveland Enquirer of the 14th of September says: On Thursday evening and yesterday the following steamers left for Cairo, having in tow 125 coal barges: Emma Duncan, Lebanon, N. W. Thomas, Neptune, Diadem, No. 4, Champion, Jessie K. Bell, Stephen Decatur, Florence, Prairie Rose and Anglo Saxon. The empty coal barges are to be used in the construction of bridges. On the Thomas a large quantity of ammunition and munitions of war were transported, guarded by a detachment of 100 men. From all the preparations going on we judge there will be warm work on the Lower Mississippi in a few days."

PRESIDENT LINCOLN.—The other day a delegation from Pennsylvania was introduced to the President. One of them expressed the hope that Lincoln would soon send his troops below Richmond, that those who had subscribed the money had a right to look for some such demonstration, etc. "Father Abraham" looked at him quietly for a second, and then said: "Will you tell us the route to take Richmond? We tried it at Manassas and found it like Jordan." It was on the same occasion that he colloquially said, that in this crisis we ought to bear and forbear; to trust in each other; to believe that our public servants are honest until the reverse is proved. "If we could not employ our capital better, to distribute it by giving employment to the unemployed; to encourage the troops before they leave for the wars; to inspire enlistments, and, above all, to insist that the newspapers should cease complaining, in order that the honest public sentiments may be consolidated around the constituted authorities."

TREASURY NOTES.—Signing the Treasury notes is no small job. When it is recollected that to make up the $50,000,000 there will be perhaps a million of notes, all of which are to be signed by the Register, there may be some conception of the extent of the labor to be performed. The Treasurer, General F. E. Spinner, has for 30 days devoted from 16 to 18 hours a day to signing his name to the large notes and bonds. This constant exercise of the muscles employed in writing has seriously injured his hand and arm.

THE HANDCUFFS ACCOUNTED FOR.—Some time ago it was said that a wagon load of handcuffs was taken from the federal forces near Washington. It was said that these were designed to hand-cuff rebels. A Kentucky correspondent gives the true version of the story, started by Jeff Davis and now being circulated through Kentucky by Breckinridge and his sympathizers for Secession effect: "I have it from authority just arrived from Richmond that as soon as the news arrived there of the retreat of the Union forces, the negro traders gathered together all the handcuffs in the jails and sent them clear of the right wing and round to the centre in front, and thus deceived even the rebel soldiers, and had them brought to Richmond as trophies. Imagine the indignation of the soldiery and the people. This was done with the sanction of Davis, Beauregard & Co. These are the means used to deceive by this wicked rebellion."

The Tories of the revolution were opposed to a government in which the people should be the principals.—Advertiser.

Just as the Tories are now-a-days.

The Federalists opposed the war of 1812 and gave aid and comfort to the enemy.—Advertiser.

Just as the tory secessionists oppose the war at the present day and give aid and comfort to the enemy.

The Federalists or Tories had no faith in the capacity of the people for self-government.—Advertiser.

Fully exhibited in the efforts in Kentucky and Missouri by the Tories and their friends [illegible] the South to let the people vote [illegible].

The opponents of democracy [illegible] succeeded in producing a civil war.—Advertiser.

Exactly so! There is no democracy in secession, it is at war with all the principles of democracy.

All who are hostile to the Union now are opposed to the existence of our free government, and are worthy coadjutors to [illegible] rebellion.—Advertiser.

A sentiment in which we fully concur.

☞ The Richmond Baptist of July 11th contains an appeal for help to supply the Southern army with Bibles and Testaments. It says: "The startling fact comes to light that there is not a set of stereotype plates for printing even the New Testament in the whole South; nor a set of plates for the Bible." This fully illustrates how the South has entirely depended on the North. The Baptist calls for subscribers to an edition of the Testament, to be issued at the rate of $20 per hundred. In New York the same Testament can be bought for $5 per hundred.

☞ A party of volunteers from Chelsea, Vt., paid a visit to George A. Bingham, a secessionist in South Royalton, on an evening a few days since. They called him from his bed and informed him that they did not intend to injure him, but that he must talk no more treason. They spread the Stars and Stripes on the ground, and asked him to kneel upon them and take the oath of allegiance to the constitution and the Union, with which request he complied. They then left him, with the assurance that a similar offence in the future would not be so easily cancelled.

☞ The Ladies' Equestrian Contest at the State Fair at Sacramento was very interesting. There was no prancing and galloping and showing off, but the four contestants rode at a walk, canter, and [illegible], and about showing their ability by the quiet, delicate, lady-like ease with which they sat and managed their horses. They rode like ladies.—The riding gave general satisfaction.

AN ERROR CORRECTED.—A San Francisco merchant was lately compelled to leave his house to correct an error, which suddenly came to his recollection. His wife felt so much interest in the matter that she followed him. He entered a strange house—she was near by—and she directly discovered the error. The balance was struck and the party returned wiser than they were before.

TROUBLE IN THE SECESSION CONGRESS.—We find the following growl in the Richmond Examiner: "The Confederate Congress deliberates with closed doors, but general statements of the temper and utterances of parliamentary bodies will, despite of every caution, find their way before the public. It is now currently believed, with much distress, by public opinion, that there is a small minority of Congress disposed to organize a standing opposition to the present executive of the Confederacy."

AN URGENT APPEAL.—The Richmond Examiner concludes a fervent appeal for aid for the Confederate army as follows:

"If there are any so parsimonious as to hesitate about contributing to this indispensable work, we must stimulate them to liberality by a simple suggestion. The property of every citizen of the Southern Confederacy who is not a traitor of the Carlisle type has been confiscated by a recent act of the Yankee Congress. If we are conquered we are beggared. Lincoln's myrmidons will seize every acre of our lands and every variety of personal property which we possess. If we do not triumph we lose all; while on the other hand success will make us in five years the most prosperous and affluent people of modern times."

The Fashionable Gentleman.—Sir Philip Sydney is known to all readers of history as the [illegible] English Gentleman, who [illegible] of Queen [illegible] who was [illegible] humor that he almost [illegible] enough [illegible]. Joseph [illegible] Now [illegible] ONE TRIP [illegible] and secured [illegible] full [illegible] by the last Steamer. CITY.

Good Heads.—Dr. DeWolfe visited the Penitentiary on Sunday evening, and examined the heads of the convicts. Mr. Ralston, Superintendent, says that the Doctor gave a very good description of the character of each of the prisoners. The heads found there, were, on an average, much better than those examined at the theatre, during the lectures. So somebody says.

If any of our readers are in want of good fresh Oysters, let him read the advertisement of the "Pioneer Oysterman," in another column. Charley is just the man who understands the business.

Exports.—The steamer Cortes, which sailed this morning at daybreak, took as freight, 3,324 sacks flour, 4,461 boxes apples, 97 bbls. butter, 57 packages eggs, 26 sacks bacon, 16 hides, 7 rolls leather, 6 coops chickens, and 8 horses.

Sailed.—The bark Almatia sailed yesterday afternoon for St. Helens and Oak Point, to receive a cargo of staves and lumber for the San Francisco market.

Gold Dust.—The steamer Cortes took down $37,400 in gold dust, this morning.

The story that Thurlow Weed of the Albany Journal, is out against the administration is a quiz.

The resolutions of the Peace Secession meetings in the Northern States, are made up for a Southern market.

It is said that the hostility of the London Times against the American loan, is to enable the Rothschilds to get it on low terms.

The Montgomery (Ala.) Confederation has been suspended for want of paper.

The New Orleans "battering ram" which is to use up all opposers, has been launched. It draws twelve feet of water.

McClellan is in favor of having all military uniforms made of blue cloth.

Thos. L. Crittenden, son of Mr. Crittenden of Ky., stands by the government, and insists that its authority shall be maintained at every hazard.

A girl of Iowa volunteered to serve three months as a soldier, so as to be be near her lover. Her sex was not discovered until after she was mustered out of service.

The culture of cotton is to be introduced into Syria. All the way from the river Jordan to Damascus, the country is said to be rich, and perfectly adapted to the culture of cotton.

The Victoria Colonist of the 9th, says that the steamer Wilson G. Hunt, would proceed immediately to Portland, and that she is to run on the Columbia river.

Thirty-six prisoners were confined in the Victoria jail on the 9th. This is a decrease. The morals of Victoria are improving.

The Bridgeport Farmer office, as our readers recollect, was destroyed by a mob. The editor had boasted that his was the only secession sheet in New England. There was found in the office packages of papers put and directed to secessionists in different portions of the seceded States, and a large number of letters were taken in which "the policy of a peace movement" was urged for the benefit of the secessionists. These letters show that some of the prominent "peace men" are traitors, and the government officers have their eyes upon them. We doubt whether any number of the Farmer exhibited a greater evidence of treason than the Advertiser of Thursday last, which proposed to go on its knees in this manner:

"We have every reason to invoke Divine interposition to stay the hand of Lincoln, paralyze his efforts and thus put a stop to the unnatural, intestine war, that he has inaugurated and carried on."

By Last Night's Stage.

By the Last Pony.

A special to the New York Tribune says: Sherman's expedition to the Southern coast will sail within three weeks. Fifteen or twenty regiments will have the privilege of going to Charleston, as the principal officers in the command believe or learn.

A captain in our volunteer service, on the recommendation of his Holiness the Pope, has been appointed. This makes the fifth European Monarch who has recommended officers for service in the United States.

San Francisco, Oct. 9.—The Alta says last evening, Brigadier General Sumner received a dispatch ordering him to the seat of war in the East, for active duty. He will accompany the regular troops from the Pacific coast.

The old postage stamps are not to be used after the 15th inst.

☞ Swett's Grape Bitters, or Restorative Wine, manufactured under the supervision of Mrs. A. M. Swett, the celebrated Clairvoyant Physician, and prepared from roots and herbs of great medicinal virtue, combined with the pure juice of the California Grape—a certain remedy for Liver Complaint, Debility, Biliousness, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Impaired Appetite, Impure Breath, &c., and all diseases requiring a powerful Liver Invigorator and Tonic. Warranted the best remedy ever invented for diseases peculiar to females, such as Leucorrhoea or Whites, Weaknesses, &c. Sold by all Druggists, and by DANIEL SWETT, Proprietor, 525 California street, San Francisco. aug2d6m

☞ The Medical and Surgical Institute of DR. L. J. CZAPKAY is already secured in a position which places it, as well as its proprietor, far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are often awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy, with others, an equally lofty position in the profession. Ricord is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philosophical stars of his age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay has fully equalled him in this country; (as a proof of which, the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma, and the honorary ad eundem degree. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as a graduate of the University of Pesth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, for more extended labors, Dr. L. J. Czapkay has bent his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases, in which he has become so great an expert, that he is now regarded as the LEADER in this branch of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography are published as matter of interest to their readers in the most exclusive journals. The Doctor's offices are at his Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the buildings of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the sworn certificates of remarkable cures in another column of this paper. Persons not wishing to lose time in corresponding, please enclose $10 in their letters, and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., San Francisco, Cal. june26dawly
